

SINCE 2012...

AmRRON Operators have conducted dozens of TRAINING and REAL-WORLD disaster communications operations across the United States.

WE USE:

- Amateur Radio Voice and Digital modes
- Simplex and Repeaters
- Unlicensed CB, FRS, and MURS
- Low Power transmitters for establishing local AM or FM radio stations (Black Echo)
- Internet/Telecommunications Tools for Training during emergencies when it exists

WE CONDUCT:

TRAINING NETS:

- Regularly-schedules HF nets nationwide and regionally
- Regularly-scheduled VHF/UHF nets locally
 - Ongoing training nets nearly every day of the week in one or more parts of the country
 - Realistic scenario-based emergency communications exercises

REAL-WORLD EMERGENCY NETS:

- Flood, hurricanes, and wildfires
- Bottled water relief convoys
- Incident Command support to elected officials and community leaders in absence of other communications support resources
